

1960s

Rural

'63

You were born in a small village.

Your mom likes you a lot. She kept you with her all the time, even when she was working in the field.

Years later, you heard that your grandparents left the room when they saw you were a girl on the day you were born.

“I would never let them lose you.”