

1960s

Rural

'85

In the first year of your marriage, you got pregnant, living up to your parents' expectations.

You went to the Family Planning
Office to apply for the birth ticket.

After filling out some form and answering some questions, you got this paper ticket.

“You should save it for the visits afterwards.”

Said the officer.